SAIGON LEGEND 西贡传奇

The article "The world's best street food" in The Guardian newspaper in December 2012 wrote: "A little-known secret is the best sandwich in the world." not found in Rome, Copenhagen or even New York City, but on the streets of Vietnam. It starts with a light baguette grilled over charcoal. After a bit of mayonnaise and a dollop of pâté, the crispy crust is filled with meat, crispy pickled vegetables and fresh herbs, it is then often seasoned with a few drops of soy sauce and hot chili seasoning.

Vietnamese Drip Coffee

Unique brewing method: Using a phin to brew, coffee is extracted slowly, allowing the flavors and essence of the coffee beans to be fully released, providing a different tasting experience compared to fast brewing methods like espresso machines.

Rich flavor: Phin coffee is often made from dark-roasted Robusta beans, which have a strong, bitter, and rich flavor, distinct from the lighter, acidic taste of Arabica coffee.

Enjoying iced milk coffee: Phin coffee is often combined with sweetened condensed milk, creating the famous iced milk coffee. The blend of the coffee's bitterness and the sweetness of the milk produces a unique and appealing flavor.

Part of culture and daily life: Enjoying phin coffee is an indispensable part of daily life for Vietnamese people. It is not just a beverage but also a social habit, where people sit down, chat, and relax together.

Diverse spaces for enjoyment: From upscale coffee shops to sidewalk stalls, phin coffee is everywhere, reflecting the diversity and richness of Vietnamese lifestyle and culture.

These factors make Vietnamese phin coffee special and unique, beloved not only in Vietnam but around the world.
